

FINAL SESSION OF COURIER COOKING SCHOOL IS TO TAKE PLACE THIS EVENING; MRS. DELANEY IS WELL PLEASED WITH RESPONSE TO HER CLASSES HERE

Women Show Interest by Asking Questions, Giving Choice Recipes, and Using Recipes Given Nightly for Meals for Their Families—Groups Attend from Near and Far

Tonight is the final session of the Courier's cooking school and the four-night program of entertainment and instruction will be brought to a close.

The grand prizes will be awarded as well as the 25 market bags filled with provisions.

All prize winners will be announced in tomorrow's Courier, in addition to being announced from the stage tonight.

All Bristol is interested, and other towns for miles 'round.

The cooking school is proving profitable and instructive. Mrs. Katherine Delaney has much to offer that is proving helpful to the house-wives and home-makers who are readers of the Courier, which is sponsoring the school.

Five fortunate women left the St. James's parish house last evening carrying with them goodies that Mrs. Delaney made as a few hundred women watched with eager eyes, and listened with attentive ears.

Among the concoctions were a delicious Blackstone cake; a tempting orange nut bread loaf; a colorful Ashville salad the ingredients of which were tomato soup, cream cheese, gelatine, cucumbers, green peppers, celery, olives; salmon macaroni; and a tasty chicken vegetable loaf.

From Langhorne, Tullytown, Newportville, Croydon, Hulmeville, Edgely, Cornwells Heights, Andalusia, and the rural section about Bristol came the women, as well as from every ward of this borough.

And the neighbors of those who have been attending are gaining in interest, and enthusiasm waxes stronger each night.

"Are you going to conduct another cooking school next year?" is the question that is put to members of the Courier staff many times daily. All are anxious for more sessions and more fine lessons.

Keener interest and more careful attention is being given to the work in and about the kitchens of Bristol, and it is safe to say that hubby and the children are gaining the benefit, and many of the men are telling of the splendid dishes their wives are placing before them at the evening meal each day now. The men are glad the Courier has seen fit to conduct a cooking and home makers' school, and are to be congratulated upon the fact that Mrs. Delaney is the one who has been secured as the lecturer-demonstrator.

Yesterday the wife of one of Bristol's well known clergymen tried her hand at the delicious Somerville meat loaf, recipe for which was given on Wednesday evening, and which was made in such a short time by Mrs. Delaney. The preacher, his wife, and children had a thoroughly enjoyable meal, and express pleasure in gaining this fine recipe.

A resident of Jefferson avenue reports that the bananas in blankets are delicious, some being arranged for a meal yesterday.

Each evening at the conclusion of the sessions requests are numerous on the part of the women who desire to speak with the instructress, and exchange ideas with her. Then too all are being helped by the questions asked in class, and Mrs. Delaney expresses pleasure over the recipes given to her.

Come early tonight if you wish a seat. Bring your suggestions with you, and your choice recipes too. The lesson tonight will please all.

Then too, there are the many large grand prizes. All are wondering, "Will I be among the fortunate ones?" All of the grand prizes are well worth vying for. These will be drawn for at the close of tonight's class which will be the final one of the Courier's school.

LEGION TO BE HOST TO FORMER ENEMIES

Entertainment Befitting Armistice Day to Be Held Here

SUPPER IS TO FOLLOW

Following a plan conceived a year ago, the veterans connected with Robert W. Bracken Post, 382, American Legion, will celebrate the signing of the Armistice on Tuesday evening, November 11th, at the post room, by staging an entertainment befitting this memorial occasion.

Many entertainments have been staged by the members during the past ten years but none will compare with the unique plan arranged for Tuesday.

This affair will also be the first staged in the new meeting room of the post. The room is the result of the tearing out of two walls on the second floor of the home, giving in return a hall 48 x 20, large enough for banquets, card parties, etc., which was sorely needed.

The committee will advise each member to bring any member of the German Army, who served during the World War, to celebrate with them on this night. There are fifteen known German ex-soldiers in Bristol and many more, no doubt. However, these fifteen will be there at least.

A big sour kraut and "weenie" supper will follow the entertainment which should go well with both "Armies" judging from the votes as to what to serve.

The spirit that will prevail at this meeting can be realized only by those who were fortunate to serve and return to their homes. Of course, those privileged are Legionnaires of the post only.

As mentioned above each member of the Bracken Post will be notified officially in regular army fashion.

FINISH 10-DAY VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wetzling have returned home after a 10-day visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Jack, of Indiana, Pa.

COFFEE SOCIAL

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lodge, Haines road, Edgely, will be a coffee social be held tonight. The affair will be for the benefit of St. Paul's Chapel, Edgely, and the public is invited.

HAS OPERATION

Miss Frances Flagg, of Wilson avenue, had her appendix removed at the Harriman Hospital yesterday.

Miss Florence Walter Entertains Several Guests

Miss Florence Walters, of Buckley street, recently entertained the members of her Sunday School class of the Methodist Episcopal Church and their friends at a Halloween party which was given in the basement of the Methodist Church.

The evening was spent playing games and a prize was awarded to Albert Booz. Refreshments were served and the table was prettily decorated in the Halloween colors, orange and black crepe paper. Three large paper pumpkins which were lighted looked attractive on the table and favors were paper witches, hats and baskets filled with candy. Those who enjoyed this party were: Charles Orr, John Ritter, Lewis Worthington, William Moore, Francis Grimes, Clifford Hagerman, Headley Warner, Albert Booz, Howard Smoyer, Miss Florence Walter, Miss Zula Warrick and Paul Simpson.

FOOTBALL CLASSIC TO BE STAGED HERE

Gridiron Battle Between Bristol and Sellersville-Perkasie Elevens

EXPECT CROWD OF 1,000

By Leon Schiffer

The Bristol High and Sellersville-Perkasie elevens will clash on the gridiron for the second time within the period of four years tomorrow afternoon when the two teams oppose each other on the local field in an inter-county struggle, starting at 2.15 p. m.

A crowd of more than 1,000 football enthusiasts, which will be the biggest to witness either eleven in action so far this season and one of the largest that has ever surrounded a Sellersville-Perkasie combination in a gridiron grapple, is expected to view the warfare on the historic and chalk-ribbed turf. Incidentally, the school has procured for this special occasion a grandstand which is comprised of several hundred seats.

Several years have passed since a Sellersville-Perkasie squad surged into battle in an engagement with the Cardinal and Gray.

The tilt tomorrow will be one of the most interesting to be played since the inauguration of the season because of its many pointed possibilities. Success or failure of the Cardinal and Gray's season, as a whole, may depend upon the duel.

After festooning themselves with easy conquests over Newtown and Langhorne and gaining the rating of a possible outstanding team in Bucks County, the Cardinal and Gray-clad eleven assimilated an entirely unexpected beating by Doylestown, only after a hard-fought game on the latter's gridiron.

Shaken by that set-back, the Cardinal and Gray recovered and catapulted to a 13-0 success against Bordentown. It now remains to be seen whether that was the cause of the inherent power the proteges of K. Townsend, serving his fourth season as head coach, appear to have or because of weakness of their opponents.

A triumph for the home team will considerably boost its stock and hopes for further successes this season. With Springfield on the list of their opponents, followed by Bensalem and Morrisville, a defeat would just about sound the death knell of Bristol's hopes of attaining much recognition worth-while. Sellersville-Perkasie, of course, has just as much, if not more, to gain or lose, according to the result of the rumple.

The Dutchmen are sporting a much more credible record than the local eleven with four victories to their credit and one defeat. Considering both teams, Sellersville-Perkasie will have the advantage in physical bulk. The team that the visiting mentor plans to start presents a line averaging more than 175 pounds, a backfield, which is considered one of the fastest in Bucks County, averaging 165 pounds, and grand average of 170 pounds.

The local squad will be out-weighted by a wide margin. Coach Townsend's nominees to start the struggle averaging about 165 pounds per man.

This week during the practice sessions, Coach Townsend confined his men to the perfecting of the spread formation, triple passes, forwards, and end runs, all of which involve much handling of the oval.

For this year's grid classic, the Cardinal and Gray will have its maximum in strength.

In the Bristol line-up against the Sellersville-Perkasie aggregation will be:

Tullo and Esposito, ends; Collins and Neindorf, tackles; Britton and Wright, guards; Aita, center; Pico, quarterback; Leighton and Gaffney, halfbacks; Bornice, fullback.

One will be able to procure tickets for this game at Levinson's United Cut Rate Store and Fabian's drug store.

RUMMAGE SALE

The rummage sale to be conducted by the Torresdale Presbyterian Church, here, tomorrow, will be held at 318 Mill street, commencing at 10 a. m.

OUR COOKING SCHOOL

(Contributed)

Good eats, good eats, the news was spread—
Just join the crowd and you'll be fed;
To all of you we gladly bring
The "Cooking School," the newest thing.

Far out of town and sundry places
Good eats are loved by all the races,
And none can Chef Delaney blame
For adding culture to our game.

The tea and cake and bread and pie
Would make a beggar wink his eye.
The scrapple, salads, baking powder,
Inspire a boy to holler louder.

It seemed as if our little town
Just lengthened out, both up and down;
And sent provisions, packed and loose,
To see if that would be excuse—

To stop the school and say, "Hold on,"
But things came rolling in, "Dokone"—
The hams and dresses over there,
And Clarence sent a Frigidaire.

Silverware, furniture and shoes
Help bring the message of good news.
And for the women, as they sew,
McCole's Majestic Radio!

Moffo's known to all of you,
As well as Tomesani, too,
The Factors with their mighty stand
Are newest comers in the band.

The town went wild and all were crazy,
Just like a fog when things are hazy.
The men sat gladly home at nights
And let the women have their rights.

The women thronged the "cooking school"
Inside and out as was the rule.
They fussed and stormed and went away,
Some even said, "Is that fair play?"

Police were called and stopped the dames;
It made one think of Jesse James.
The Courier with its many pages
Will guide you where to buy for ages.

But now it is so nice and fair,
No trouble brewed, I'm sure not there.
And all the "cooking school" must do,
Is, come again, "We're sure with you!"

MISS FLORENCE SHARKEY IS BRIDE OF J. A. FERRY

Doylestown Popular As License Center

Increasing Number of Couples Apply for Marriage Privilege

TO RESIDE IN BRISTOL

Yesterday afternoon at three o'clock a quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Mark's Church at 3.00 p. m., when Miss Florence Marie Sharkey, of 833 Garden street, was united in marriage to Joseph A. Ferry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ferry, of 352 Washington street. Rev. Joseph Murray, of St. Mark's Parish, performed the ceremony, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Daniel Curren, of Jefferson avenue, a sister of the groom, attended the bride, while John Bonner, of Jefferson avenue, was best man.

The bride was gowned in a dark brown toned georgette frock, made with a V-neck, long, tight sleeves, cape back and high waist line. The gown was trimmed with dark brown velvet to match the shade of the garment. The velvet formed a peplum and also a circular fold, falling from the waist to the hem in the front. The hem line was uneven and longer on the left side. With this Mrs. Ferry wore a dark brown felt hat, close-fitting, trimmed with a buckle on the left side; dark brown suede slippers, and carried an arm bouquet of white mums.

Mrs. Curren, the bridesmaid, was also dressed in brown but a lighter tone than that of the bride. The material was flat crepe and the waist was made with a cowl collar of egg-shell toned crepe. The sleeves were long and tight, ending in bows of egg-shell crepe on the wrists. The skirt was full, long and circular. With this, Mrs. Curren wore a close-fitting felt hat to match, trimmed with an egg-shell and a brown feather under the left back brim; brown suede slippers, with egg shell toned stockings and carried an arm bouquet of yellow mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception and supper were held at the bride's home, 833 Garden street. Fifty guests attended, all relatives of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferry have left for a honeymoon to be spent in Long Branch, N. J.

Upon their return, they will reside at 833 Garden street.

The wedding was a culmination of a romance begun while the bride and groom were children and students at St. Mark's Parochial School.

Mite Society Entertained At A Home in Edgely

Mrs. Philip Eckenroth, of Edgely, entertained the Mite Society of the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening. After business was transacted, refreshments were served. Each one received a small basket of candy and nuts and a large yellow chrysanthemum as favors.

Those present were: Mrs. Jesse Bromley, Mrs. Monroe Barton, Mrs. Nellie Hocking, Mrs. Laura Moore, Mrs. L. C. Watson, Mrs. J. E. Lovett, Mrs. Philip Eckenroth, Mrs. Eddie Mann and daughters Harriet and Dorothy.

George Haines, of Wheatshaf, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith, of Wilson street, from Friday until Sunday.

600 WOMEN AT MEETING HELD BY S. E. DISTRICT

One Hundred and Twenty-Two Clubs Represented At Session

URGE BEAUTIFICATION

Two Doylestown Clubs Are Hosts to Visiting Group

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 7.—More than 600 women from 122 clubs attended the eighth annual meeting of the Southeastern District of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women yesterday in the Salem Reformed Church. The hostess clubs were the Village Improvement Association and the Nature Club, of Doylestown. The meeting was planned by the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Roadside protection and highway beautification were discussed by J. W. Keller, highway forester. He urged women of the State to support the proposal of the State Highway Department to cover slopes and highway cuts with shrubbery.

Improvement of the dangerous highway intersections was suggested also as a project that can be backed by them throughout the State. This can be done, he said, by raising mounds in the center of road intersections on which will be planted trees and shrubbery. This would eliminate many accidents, he said.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Ferdinand Sommer, of Quakertown, president of the Bucks County Federation, and the response was made by Mrs. Lewis R. Dick, of Overbrook, a district director.

A flower show in which there were 118 entries from fourteen clubs was a feature of the meeting. The show was in charge of Mrs. Albert M. Herr, president of the Iris Club of Lancaster, and Mrs. James M. Shellenberger, of Doylestown Nature Club. The prize winners were as follows:

Perfect Blooms—Won by Mrs. Harry Yost, Doylestown; honorable mention, Mrs. William R. Mercer, Doylestown, and Sorosis Club of Langhorne.

Winter Flowers in Basket Arrangement—Won by Mrs. H. Flegley, Quakertown; second, Mrs. Carmon Ross, Doylestown.

Winter Arrangement of Flowers in Container—Won by Mrs. C. F. Shell, Iris Club of Lancaster; honorable mention, Sorosis Club of Langhorne.

Winter Garden Flowers in Glass Container—Won by Mrs. Albert M. Herr, Lancaster; honorable mention, Mrs. James M. Shellenberger, Doylestown; most entries, Sorosis Club of Langhorne.

Best Wall Pockets Containing Winter Decorations—Won by Ellen D. Broadhurst, Puckingham Women's Club; honorable mention, Mrs. C. W. Carpenter, Iris Club of Lancaster.

Fresh Flowers in A Wall Pocket—Won by Mrs. C. W. Carpenter, Lancaster; honorable mention, Mrs. C. W. Carpenter, Doylestown, and most number of entries, Iris Club of Lancaster.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT

PROBLEM

There are few unmixed blessings in this world. In fact, if one were to be hyper-critical, he would find none. Perfection is something mankind ever strives for and never attains.

All had looked upon the development of international air transportation as a boon without evil consequences. How many of our world statesmen have said of it that it is a spreader of good! And now the fly in the ointment of aerial progress comes to the surface.

Waxing prophetic and admonitory, a British journalist warns:

"Plague and cholera, which are prevalent in Bombay and Burma, cannot without discovery reach Australia by sea, for they reveal themselves in the course of the voyage. But Australia's welcome immunity is threatened when she can be reached by air from Burma in less than three days. At that rate of transit it would, in fact, be possible to transmit smallpox from end to end of the world during its period of incubation."

Immigration quarantine is one of the principal obstacles to the development of Intercontinental transportation of passengers by air. In some instances all the time that would be saved by this fast mode of travel would be lost in necessary quarantines at ports of entry. It is a problem aviation, medical science and public health agencies must solve.

EVERYBODY IS SUSPECTED

Several months ago customs officials in New York suddenly began the practice of searching everyone who went aboard trans-Atlantic liners. In this case not passengers alone, but thousands of persons who came down to see their friends off were subjected to this indignity.

At the time the outrage was charged up against Volsteadism, although the notion that a man could carry any considerable amount of liquor off a ship in his pockets did seem pretty thin. Finally it developed that the customs attaches were looking for four jewel smugglers.

To get four smugglers, the authorities subjected thousands of innocent persons to the insult of a police search. This is the new principle of law enforcement; to the bureaucrats every American is a crook until he is proved innocent. No man any longer has a right to freedom from official interference, because every man, in the eyes of his government's agents, is a suspicious character.

And the cream of the jest is that there isn't a thing that can be done about it. In the course of a pleasure jaunt in the family car, one can be halted and searched for forbidden wet goods or compelled to show proof of car ownership and the right to operate a car. The happiness and comfort of the people seem to be of less concern to the government than that the way of the transgressor shall be hard.

When you are lonely, and want the doorbell to ring, try to take a bath.

When you see a dog leading a man you know the man is blind. But if you see a man leading a dog you know the man is married and has had his eyes opened.

TULLYTOWN

Thirty-one members and friends of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tullytown Christian Church visited an ice cream plant in Philadelphia. The trip was made by motor buses which were furnished by the company. The proceeds of the trip go to the Ladies' Aid Society.

On Saturday evening of this week a

Hallowe'en social will be held in Community House of the Tullytown Christian Church. This social is given under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. Prizes will be awarded for the fanciest dressed, most original and comic costumes.

Mrs. George W. Wright, of Main street, was a visitor in Philadelphia, Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Carlen, of Fallsington avenue, has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Miss Alvia Atkinson and Miss Marion Wells, of Fallsington avenue, were visitors with friends at Bethel, Pa., over the week-end.

Miss Florence Hearl and Charles Juliff, of Andalusia, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Etris Wright, of Lovett avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Birchell, of Trenton, were recent visitors at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Birchell, of Fallsington avenue.

Mrs. Angelo Napoli and Mrs. Joseph Monti, of Main street, were visitors in Philadelphia, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Paone, Jr., of Lovett avenue, were visitors with relatives in Trenton, Sunday.

Elwood Walters, Sr., of Fallsington avenue, was a visitor in Philadelphia, Tuesday.

Mrs. Delaney Meeting With Success Here

The cooking and home economics expert, Mrs. Katherine Delaney, of the De Both Home Making School, who is conducting a series of four classes in St. James's Parish House under the auspices of the Bristol Courier, is meeting with great success here.

The high reputation of Mrs. Delaney for giving inspiring talks and demonstrations on household problems, insures an event of real and lasting benefit.

The sessions will be held this evening at 7.45 o'clock. Doors will open an hour earlier to accommodate those who wish to be settled before the crowd arrives.

There will be no admission charge.

and every woman will be welcome insofar as the capacity of the auditorium of the St. James's Parish House will permit.

ABINGTON LOSES HOCKEY GAME TO BRISTOL TEAM

By Leon Schiffer

The Bristol high team annexed its third consecutive 1-0 triumph when it defeated Abington, its foremost rival of the season, in a hard-fought game yesterday.

The game was well played by both squads with the Cardinal and Gray showing some real fighting spirit which has been lacking ever since the season started.

During the first half Abington's playing was mostly on the defense, but the second half found them threatening Bristol's goal several times. However, all their threats were in vain as the Cardinal and Gray's strong defense prevented them from gaining their objective several times.

Bristol scored its lone marker of the fray during the first few minutes of play in the second half, when "Kitsy" Rhodes, one of the Cardinal and Gray's most reliable members, received the ball deep in the enemies' territory, dribbled the sphere down the field, eluded her opponent and then passed the ball to "Mim" Rhodes, who in turn side-stepped Abington's fullback and shot the sphere towards the visitors' goal. The ball was deflected from its flight by a stone, took a bad bounce and struck the goal post. However, Olive Whyatt followed the shot up and slammed the ball past the goal keeper.

At this point, Abington High began to use all her offensive power, but the Still sisters were not to be fooled and drove back the attack.

The real thrill of the day came when the second team fought an up-hill battle to tie the Abington second-stringers. The first half ended with Abington having a two point advantage. After the intermission Bristol came back with renewed fighting spirit and with two beautifully placed shots by Nills and Unruh tied the score. The game ended with neither team breaking the tie.

IS THERE MORE DRINKING NOW THAN PRIOR TO 1918?

To the Editor of the Public Ledger:
Sir—On every hand anti-prohibitionists are telling us there is more drinking now than prior to 1918. I often wonder how they come to think so. For five years before 1913 I travelled Pennsylvania. My occupation made it possible for me to spend Saturday evenings in the saloons of the towns I visited, where I made a count of the young men and women drinking, and to spend the service hours of Sunday in the churches of the same towns. My figures for five years showed that five young men were training for life in the saloons to one in the Bible schools and churches. Those young persons are now voters in our Commonwealth. No wonder prohibition is having a hard time in Pennsylvania.

I continue to travel in this State as before, I ride on the same trains, visit the same towns and stop at the same hotels. I do not see one man under the influence of liquor where I saw twenty before prohibition.

What is going on in the finishing department of the slums or in the homes of wealth I do not know; but in the decent lines of travel or among the respectable common people, intoxicated men and women have almost disappeared. If there is more drinking than before prohibition, there is not one-tenth of the drunkenness. I prefer the latter days.

CHARLES W. CARROLL,
Philadelphia, October 21, 1930.
(Adv.)

ANDALUSIA

On Wednesday afternoon a covered dish luncheon was given in the basement of King Hall. The menu consisted of various kinds of cold meats, potato salad and many other good things to eat. After lunch a pie walk took place and Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Thomas Andrew's sister, won the pie. The proceeds of this luncheon amount to $7 and are for the benefit of the St. Agnes' Guild. These luncheons are held every two weeks at the same place and begin at 12.30.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson enjoyed seeing a show at one of the Frankford Theaters on Wednesday evening.

The Get-Together Club met at the home of Mrs. Mary Jackson on Tuesday evening. Six games of pinocle were played and Mrs. Harry Barnett won the first prize and Mrs. Emma Fries won the booby prize. Everyone had a very enjoyable evening and also enjoyed the home made candies.

Traveling Theatre Tours Through Germany in Bus

Leading Actors and Actresses of German Stage, Touring the Hinterlands, Blaze the Torch of Drama and Bring Joy to Rural Villages.

THE TRAVELING THEATRE,

ACTRESSES ADVERTISE OWN SHOW, IN RING UP THE CURTAIN

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—In Germany the torch of the drama is alight in the tiniest town or village. The Traveling Players of Berlin, an organization financed by a wealthy and artistic sponsor, has in six years gained world-wide fame, and lovers of the drama hay and agricultural implements hastily pushed to one side. It makes no difference. The splendid orchestra plays, scenery and props are all used and a perfect lighting system adds to the reality and perfection of the production.

The idea was founded on a desire to afford steady employment for some of the ablest actors and actresses of the German stage, during the often inactive Summer season. That and the wish to give people in outlying districts the opportunity to enjoy the best of plays presented by a capable cast with fine settings. A large motor bus and trailer were purchased. The bus has seats for thirty-five persons and ample luggage space. The trailer, a specially built van, holds the scenery and properties for a repertoire of six plays and one operetta. Costumes, like the scenery equipment and lighting, are the best.

The company numbers within its ranks, eighteen able performers, all except two being of the original company. There are five fine musicians and five mechanics. There are six new plays and a new and lively operetta, every year. The wandering players are versatile, they play broad farce, drawing-room comedy and tragedies. Some plays are from the classics of other days, others, are plays that have had long runs in some of the finest contemporary theatres. The orchestra is as much an attraction as the plays themselves. They are all symphony musicians.

The itinerary of the traveling players is made up before the company leaves Berlin, where they spend weeks in arduous and thorough rehearsals. Thus they know exactly when and where they will present their shows long in advance. The company plays in whatever auditorium is available. Sometimes it is the Council Chamber of the town or village, sometimes the auditorium of the town's largest concert or music hall. Occasionally the leading hotel's lobby or drawing room becomes for the nonce the theatre. Occasionally it is a lodge room. But whatever the spot, the players are not temperamental. They are proud of their art and feel that it does not depend upon settings to give it full emphasis. They are happy to bring the drama to the most out-of-the-way places. That is their purpose.

The patrons of the motor mummies eagerly await their share of the drama and always have some sort of a theatre ready for them when they arrive in their bus. The whole village assists in unloading and placing the scenery, wardrobe trunks, portable footlights, spotlights and the vast paraphernalia the even that smallest theatrical organization needs.

Needless to say the house is always sold out long in advance. There is always a capacity audience, vociferous in its enthusiasm. In the larger communities they stay a week presenting a different play nightly and an operetta at the matinee performance. In smaller districts they remain from one to three days. But wherever they go the tale is the same. Gratitude to those who find joy in giving the best of the theatre to those who are starved for the joy that even an ordinary play brings, be it presented before a rural or an urban audience.

Ethiopia's Emperor a "Song Solomon"

Ferocious Chiefs of Ethiopia Acknowledge Ras Tafari as Their Supreme Head. He rules the Band of Warriors Solely by Virtue of His Intellect.

EMPEROR RAS TAFARI and FAMILY.

CORONATION SCENE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Ethiopia, darkest of the countries of Darkest Africa, is on the road to becoming an up-to-date empire that should command respect from the great powers of the West. And Ras Tafari, Makonnen, Emperor of Abyssinia, who has just been crowned, is the man to whom his country looks for progress and success.

Ras Tafari rules the band of ferocious chiefs, who, each in turn, rule a province, solely by virtue of his intellect. It was because of his intelligence, his superior knowledge, that the chiefs decided to recognize him as their supreme head. They have learned that brain is superior to brute strength. Ras Tafari declares that he is a descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. He is coal black, his features are those of a Caucasian. He has a pointed cropped beard, has the eyes of a dreamer, the big forehead that generally bespeaks intellect, the manner of a Frenchman, the civilization of an Englishman, and tackles problems and enterprises in the thorough manner of an American.

Abyssinia has a regular army of 150,000 fearless warriors. They used to be armed with spears and swords as Italy had reason to know. But Ras Tafari has made his soldiers hang up their old-fashioned weapons and has equipped them with up-to-date rifles and machine guns. He has introduced roads, built by the best white engineers under his instructions, that are as good as any in Europe or even in America. Along these roads, motor trucks, fueled with Abyssinian gas, are carrying the riches of Africa into the highways of commerce. Ras Tafari is building an enormous dam to tap the waters of the Nile. Abyssinia borders on the west; the Egyptian Sudan.

Ras Tafari has surrounded himself with white scientists, engineers, educators and other advisers. But he does not allow any white man to exploit his country's wealth. Gold and other precious substances are being mined for the benefit solely of Abyssinia. But as the Emperor likes a little color, the instructor for his palace guard is Herbert Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, a Harlem Negro, standing 6 feet 2 inches. And although Herbert Hubert is all dressed up with a polo outfit, monocle and Parisian-made deerskin shoes, he is exceedingly shrewd. He is the buyer of all arms and ammunition and is also the dread of the white adventurers who are gun-running arms to rebel chiefs. Herbert Hubert knows all the gun-runners' tricks and can cope with the wildest of them. The Negro is anxious that all arms and ammunition should be bought in the regular way, through factories in the United States.

ILL. Patrick McGee, of Pine street, is quite ill at his home.

BLACKSTONE CAKE

First Mixture

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk

Method: Cream together shortening and sugar, add well beaten eggs and the cooled "second mixture." Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk, beating well.

Second Mixture

2 squares chocolate
1/2 cup powdered sugar
Method: Cook all together in double boiler until thick. When cool add to first part. Bake in layers at 350 degrees F. for 25 minutes.

BLACKSTONE ICING

2 squares chocolate
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk

Method: Melt chocolate, add shortening, egg, milk and sugar. Cook in double boiler 6 minutes. When cool, add enough confectioners' sugar to spread. Lastly add the vinegar and vanilla, and beat well.

ORANGE NUT BREAD

3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
4 eggs

Method: Sift dry ingredients, add chopped walnuts, grated orange rind and marmalade. Add milk to well beaten egg and stir all ingredients together. Turn into well greased pan, let rise 15 to 20 minutes and bake for one hour in moderate oven, 350 degrees F.

COFFEE DEMONSTRATION

ASHVILLE SALAD

1/2 can tomato soup or puree
2 cream cheeses (or cottage cheese)
1 envelope gelatine
1/2 cup cold water

Method: Bring soup or puree to a boil and add mashed cream cheese. Work smooth and cool slightly. Soak gelatine in 1/2 cup cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add with all other ingredients to tomato mixture. Chill in individual molds which have been rinsed in cold water. Turn out on lettuce leaf and serve with mayonnaise.

HAM AND SWEET POTATO BISCUIT

1 cup mashed sweet potatoes
1/2 cup chopped, cooked ham
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup flour
1/4 cup cream
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Method: Sift dry ingredients, stir in cream, cold mashed sweet potatoes and ham and mustard. Roll out in floured pastry cloth, 1/2 inch thick and bake on greased baking sheet in hot oven, 400 degrees F.

SALMON MACARONI

1 onion
2 cups tomato soup or puree
1/2 cup grated cheese
2 tablespoons flour
2 hard cooked eggs

Method: Melt shortening in pan and stir in flour. Add tomato soup or puree and cook for 2 minutes. Flake fish, chop onion and add together with seasonings. Let simmer for 5 minutes. Make a border of the macaroni on a hot platter, and pour salmon mixture inside ring. Sprinkle top with cheese and garnish with slices of hard cooked egg.

PEPPERMINT MOUSSE

1/3 pound peppermint candy—stripped
1/2 teaspoon gelatine
sticks or wheels
1/2 cup milk
1/8 teaspoon salt

Method: Put candy through food chopper or pound until very fine, then dissolve in milk. Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve over hot water. When cold, add to cream and blend thoroughly. Whip cream until stiff, add salt, then candy mixture, folding in lightly until well mixed. Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator and let stand 5 or 6 hours, or overnight.

TEA DEMONSTRATION

PIQUANT RELISH

1 package lemon flavored gelatine
1 1/2 cups water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt

Method: Dissolve a package of lemon flavored gelatine in boiling water and 3 tablespoons vinegar. Add finely cut pimiento and green pepper, and grated horseradish. (If prepared horseradish is used, omit the vinegar.) As mixture begins to thicken, pour into green peppers, and when set, cut in slices. Serve with meat or fish.

ONIONS AND APPLES

4 cups sliced onions
1/4 cup shortening
6 cups sliced apples
Salt
2 tablespoons sugar
Pepper

Method: Heat shortening in pan, add onions and apples. Cover and let steam for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. When apples are soft and onions slightly brown, season with salt and pepper.

CHICKEN VEGETABLE LOAF

3 cups cooked chicken
1 1/2 cups small peas
1 cup diced carrots
1 small onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Method: Beat eggs, add milk, chicken and other ingredients, mixing well. Turn into greased loaf pan or ring mold and bake at 400 degrees F. for 50 minutes. Serve with mushroom sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

4 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon chopped onion
4 tablespoons flour
1 can mushrooms
1/2 cup liquor from mushrooms
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Method: Melt shortening, add onion, and let simmer gently until onion is tender. Add flour, stirring until smooth, then milk, mushrooms and seasonings. Cook for 5 minutes.

CINNAMON STRAWBERRY TOAST

Bread
Butter
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
Sugar
Cinnamon
1 glass strawberry jelly
1 tablespoon flour

Method: Toast slices of bread on both sides, lightly. Spread liberally with butter, sugar, and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon. Beat egg slightly, add milk, strawberry jelly which has been softened, flour and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Dip toast in batter and brown on both sides on a hot griddle. Serve with afternoon tea.

ICE CREAM CAKE

Method: Hollow out individual cakes, fill with ice cream and sprinkle over grated cocoanut, either plain or colored. Nuts and cherries may be added.

BOND
Bread"

—says Mrs. Katherine Delaney
at the Bristol Courier
Cooking School

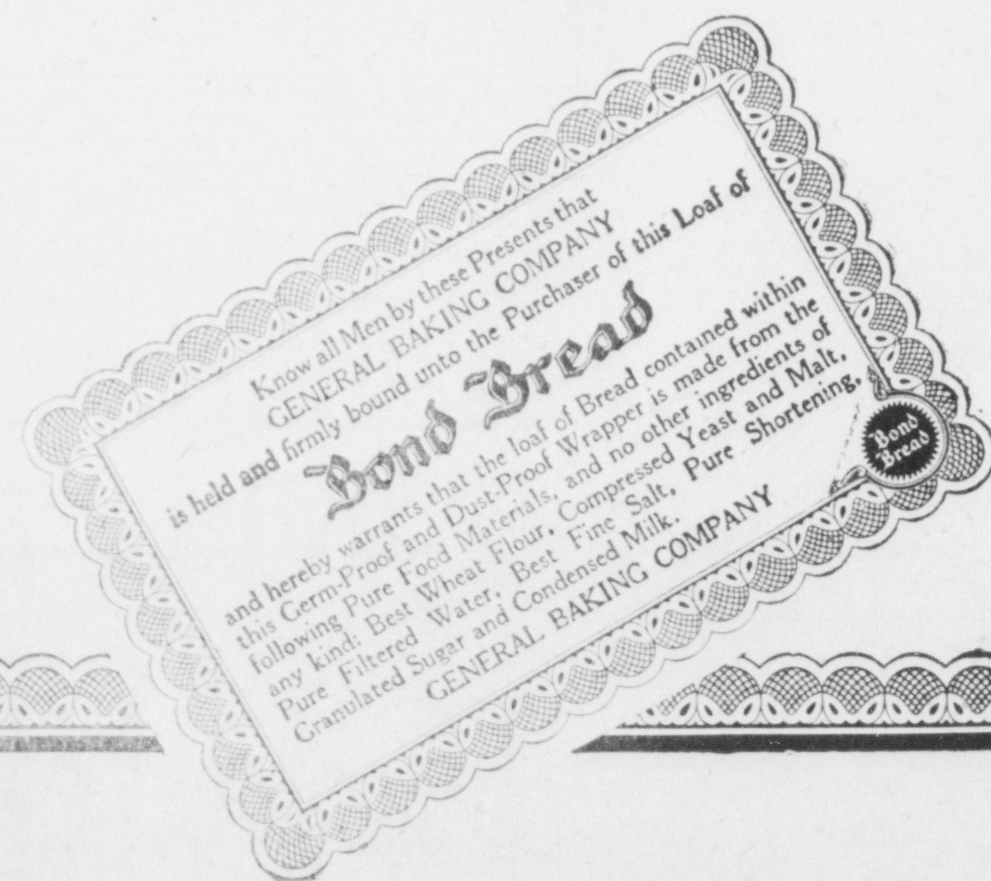

BOND BAKERS asked housewives themselves what made bread home-like. And 43,040 housewives sent samples of their best home-baked bread to prove that home-like texture and flavor depended upon the quality and purity of the ingredients used, and upon thorough baking. Year in and year out, adherence to the example of these housewives has made Bond Bread the most-asked-for loaf in the world.
